MINNESOTA LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

The forty-third annual session of the Minnesota Library Association was held at the Lowry Hotel, St. Paul, October 10-12, 1935. The total registration was 292.

The sessions opened with the organization of the Junior Members. A Round Table was held in the Exhibition Room, St. Paul Public Library with Mirrian Jansen, Owatonna, Chairman. 97 were in attendance. As a result of this meeting the following Objectives were approved:

Objectives of the Junior Members Round Table

The primary purposes for the organization of a Junior Members section are to interest the young librarians in co-operative activities, to broaden their outlook, to professionalize their spirit, to keep alive the interest of those temporarily without positions, and to create an attitude of sociability and common understanding among the members of the group.

Realizing the tendency of the younger librarians not to attend conventions because of lack of interest and of recognition, we aim to accomplish tasks that will command interest and demand recognition.

We shall strive to cooperate in every way possible with the activities of M. L. A. as well as with the Junior Members section of the A. L. A.

Our program shall be as follows:

To hold special business and discussion meetings at all future M. L. A. conferences in order to familiarize members with current and future activities and to discuss items of interest and importance to the group and the profession.

To promote a general interest in all library conferences and particularly in the aims and purposes of M. L. A.

To promote studies and activities that will contribute to the advancement of the profession.

To plan various social activities.

To encourage M. L. A. membership among the young people particularly those without positions in order that they may keep alive their interest in the field.

The particular project for this coming year is a concerted effort for certification. Only through organized efforts and well planned attacks shall we be enabled to have the bill passed and passed it must be if our profession is to maintain its high standards.

Respectfully submitted,
ISABELLE ANDERSON
MYNETTE LINDELOFF
DOROTHY AMESBURY,
Chairman.

Group Luncheons

Catalogers and Reference Librarians—Constance Humphrey, Chairman. Seventy-eight attended. A most interesting and illuminating address on Special Collections in the University of Minnesota Library was given by Mr. Frank K. Walter, librarian.

County Librarians—Maud van Buren, Chairman. Miss Berry, Hennepin County discussed "How we reach our rural residents." Miss Dorcas, Albert Lea told "Why I should like to extend library privileges to my county." Extension of service through contracts with rural schools was described by Miss Lindeloff, Sauk Center.

Hospital and Institution Librarians—Mrs. Emma Hovig, Chairman. Miss Mary Heenan of the School for the Blind, Faribault, gave her impressions of the Denver meeting. Miss Heenan attended the Round Tables on Work with the Blind, and Work with the Blind in Education, and visited the State School for Blind and Deaf. There followed a discussion on Talking Book machines and records.

Miss Jarpe read Dr. Petersen's paper which he gave at the St. Louis meeting, on "The hospital library in relation to psychiatric research" and showed and explained graphs dealing with reading abilities of patients under observation at the St. Peter State Hospital.

Miss Perrie Jones discussed the Round Table meeting at the American Hospital Convention at St. Louis, particularly Mr. Compton's paper on "Costs of hospital libraries" and Dr. Petersen's paper. Some general conclusions—one gets more results from controlled groups in mental, orthopedic and sanatoria than in general hospitals—we have no scientific studies on patients' reading, nothing to show whether patient is benefited by reading or how much other factors have counted—classification of books for hospitals needed—more lists of books for use in hospitals wanted. Summaries of surveys on hospital library service in mental hospitals and in Minnesota hospitals given by Miss Jones.

Mrs. Hovig resigned as chairman and Miss Helen Witherspoon of the State Training School for Boys, Red Wing, was elected to fill the vacancy.

First General Session opened in the Grand Ball Room with Miss Irma Walker, presiding.

Following the appointment of the Nominating and Resolutions Committees, the program was devoted to reviews of recent books. Miss Ada Bruncke, St. Paul Public Library presented a list of Recent Non-Fiction, including history, travel and biography, giving detailed reviews of Day's Life with Father, Doran's Chronicles of Barabbas, Lin Yutang's My country and my people, Anne Lindbergh's North to the Orient, Millis' Road to war and Zweig's Mary, queen of Scotland and the Isles. Recent books on Economics were reviewed by Dorothy Houston of the State Dept. of Education, with special emphasis on books relating to propaganda and on war and peace. The list of Technical Books, 1934-1935, annotated by Helen Rugg, Hill Reference Library is printed on page 134. Minnesota Books and Pamphlets, 1934-1935, was presented by Lois M. Fawcett, Minnesota Historical Society Library supplementing the list presented at the last annual meeting. (See p. 133). The session closed with a thought-provoking paper on Reading and the Youth Movement, by Sister Cecil, professor of Children's Literature, Library School, College of St. Catherine.

Second General Session—Dinner was served at Lowry Hotel with Mrs. Grace H. Flandrau, author and lecturer as guest speaker of the evening.

Mrs. Flandrau spoke on her early life in Mexico and of her return in 1933 and the contrasts found. At the close of the session each exhibitor was presented and an Exhibitor's hour was held during which time booths were visited and the books on display were examined.

Under the able chairmanship of Mr. Ernest Johnson, Minneapolis, an unusually fine showing was made, and the exhibitors presented a petition expressing appreciation of his services and requesting that he be continued as chairman.

Friday, October 11, a breakfast was held for librarians in towns of 3000 population or less. Irene Helland, Redwood Falls presided. There were nineteen librarians present. Mynette Lindeloff of Sauk Centre reported on her work with rural schools. By contacting the school boards and getting their cooperation, the State aid funds of the various schools are placed in one general fund from which books are bought for all the participating schools.

Mrs. C. E. Skorseth, Canby, presented the problem of a small library with limited funds. The local Women's Club and other organizations contribute their services as well as financial aid.

Mrs. Parsons of Elk River described her Vacation Reading Club in the absence of Mrs. Alice Lamb of Litchfield.

The Third General Session, on Friday morning, with Miss Walker presiding opened with a business meeting, at which the report of the Nominating Committee was given, by Florence Love, chairman. The following officers were elected:

Eleanor Herrmann, St. Paul Public Library,
President

Thos. P. Fleming, University of Minnesota,
1st Vice President

Jane Morey, Duluth, 2nd Vice President

Gertrude Glennon, Stillwater, Secretary-Treasurer

Irma Walker, Hibbing, Ex-officio Member

Report of the State Planning committee was read by Miss Baldwin. After the reading of this report a motion was made by Miss Countryman that the work be continued with the present committee.

Miss Penrose, Chairman of the Legislative Committee, reported that the Bill for certification of school librarians was passed by the 1935 Legislature but the bill providing certification for public librarians encountered decided opposition in the Committee on Education and was not recommended for passage. It was voted that the committee be continued and that a bill be prepared for discussion at the next meeting of the M. L. A.

Mrs. Jessie H. Parsons gave a report on State and Federal Aid. She reviewed the action taken by the A. L. A. on federal aid which has approved the plan in principle, but at the Denver meeting of the Council deferred negotiations until a special committee of the Council shall have given further study to the subject, and reported to the Council at the next annual meeting.

In Minnesota the only provision for library aid is for purchase of books for school libraries. The definite aims of the Planning committee are to foresee possible needs of library service and to adequately prepare for state and national participation in provision of library service. The first step is certification, to insure standard administration, the second to prepare for state aid to equalize library opportunity.

Dr. J. G. Rockwell, state commissioner of education in an article in Minnesota Schools, April-May, 1935 enumerates the three-fold functions of state aid (referring to schools) as (1) to encourage the maintenance of established minimum standards, (2) to encourage those educational activities and services which, upon best information, are accepted as desirable and (3) to aid districts with limited financial resources. These principles apply equally to public libraries and there is a striking similarity in the fundamental stipulations stated as essential by Carleton B. Joeckel, in The Government of the American Public Library as follows, "(1) that actual need for aid be established, (2) that matching of federal funds to a greater or less extent be required, and (3) that reasonable standards of service be maintained." Mr. Joeckel also states that "At the moment, direct federal aid to libraries on a large and comprehensive scale is a new and somewhat revolutionary proposal. However, any realistic appraisal of the present stage of development reached by the American public library seems to indicate clearly that only through generous federal assistance can real equalization of book service be achieved throughout the nation."

Charles H. Brown in his paper on Adequate Library Support read at the Denver conference (See A. L. A. Bulletin, August, 1935) points out that we must adapt our work to new conditions of government now developing. The program of free public libraries in Spain (and in other European countries) is based on national support.

The first step in planning is an understanding of state and local needs, which means a survey of conditions, then planning for prospective reform and construction, then educating the public, by making every part of library needs popular knowledge. Librarians should also recognize the tendency to combining governing boards, and attempt to make consolidation as beneficial to the library movement as possible.

This means a continually changing local plan, state standards of library efficiency, continued publicity and support from library trustees.

Following this report, it was voted that the Planning committee, through a sub-committee, work out a plan for State Aid to be presented for discussion at the next meeting.

The Membership Committee consisting of Ruth M. Hall, Minneapolis, chairman; Mrs. T. B. Hines, Austin; Mrs. C. B. Selnes, Glenwood; Adelaide Rood, Minneapolis; Mrs. Fannie Viitala Kakela, Mountain Iron; with Gertrude Glennon, secretary, an ex-officio member, was chosen to represent different districts of the state and the state was divided into four sections of approximately equal library population. Personal appeals to the librarian in charge of each library in the district were made by the committee members. The result was a 15% increase in individual membership, with a total membership of 176 at the time of the meeting.

Publicity Committee—Pre-convention publicity began with news stories on the progress of library legislation, followed by a series of feature articles on the puppet projects, traveling libraries, various phases of work in the St. Paul Public Library and the Codex Sinaiticus, Bishop Whipple collection, loaned to the Faribault public library.

Later convention publicity included notices of the convention, the Carnegie Corporation art collection given to the Owatonna public library, feature interviews with various convention speakers, and reports of the meeting.

The entire publicity program was carried out by Mrs. Helen Meyers, a professional newspaper woman, whose services were acknowledged by the committee as far exceeding the small compensation allowed.

PERRIE JONES, Chairman.

Following the business session, Dr. Grace Lee Nute gave a fascinating account of her "Discovery of new Radisson and Groseilliers source material," which she had gathered during her year of research work on a Guggenheim fellowship.

Dr. Frederick M. Eliot, St. Paul gave a talk on "Contemporary British Poets". He spoke about how to learn to enjoy poetry—by reading repeatedly—by learning about the background of poets. He illustrated his talk by reading from several younger British poets.

In the afternoon of October 11, the Twin City Library Club arranged a drive which ended at the University where a delightful tea was given under the direction of Miss Lura Hutchinson, and the Alumnae of the University Library School.

At 7 P. M., a dinner was served at the Women's City Club with Dr. Louis R. Wilson, President, American Library Association as guest speaker. Miss Eleanor Herrmann presided at this meeting. Dr. Wilson urged that the American Library Association be made the centre of all agencies, that the spirit of co-operation become the foundation of all plans. Brief reports of the International Library Conference in Spain were given by Gratia Countryman, librarian of the Minneapolis public library and Perrie Jones, who also attended the International hospital meeting in Rome and paid a visit to Denmark.

At the final session Saturday morning the report of the Resolutions committee was read, by Alma M. Penrose, chairman and Library school news was given by Sister Marie Cecilia for the College of St. Catherine, and Frank K. Walter for the University of Minnesota.

Elsie L. Baker, St. Paul Public Library, presided at the joint session of School and Children's Librarians. Alice Brunat of the Minneapolis Public Library reviewed the outstanding new children's books of this year.

The Adolescent and his reading was discussed in a paper by Mrs. Luella B. Cook, Central High School, Minneapolis, who emphasized the importance of reading with a purpose.

The main address of the morning was given by Dr. John G. Rockwell, State Commissioner of Education, on Motives, their relation to art and criticism.

Following a luncheon at the Women's City Club, at which Louise F. Encking, Minneapolis Public Library, presided, Dora V. Smith, University of Minnesota, read a delightful paper on Reading for Fun, which was printed in the Library Journal, November 15.

Mrs. Caroline Dale Snedeker, Nantucket, Mass. was the guest speaker. With rare charm and modesty she presented the New England background for her stories of Downright Dencey, Beckoning Road and Uncharted Ways, as well as her knowledge of the classic settings of Theras and his town and The Spartan.

In attendance, interest and a program of fine quality, the 1935 meeting marks a high point in the history of the Minnesota Library Association.

LIBRARY OBJECTIVES FOR MINNESOTA

Recommended by the State Library Planning Committee

Library Extension Agency

"For libraries, as for schools, the state should acknowledge and accept responsibility for the provision of adequate service for all inhabitants."

To this end it is recommended that the Library Extension Division be given adequate support

(a) to maintain a staff equipped by special training to exercise leadership in library development and operation

(b) to maintain a lending library to supplement other libraries, and pending the establishment of complete library service for the state, to serve isolated readers and communities directly.

Public Libraries

Definition—"Any library which has been officially charged with the responsibility, or has voluntarily assumed the responsibility, for providing free library service of a general nature to a particular community, or to a more or less definite portion of it, has been considered to be a public library"—Joeckel, Government of the American public library, Introduction, p. X.

Total population served by public libraries—1,530,562

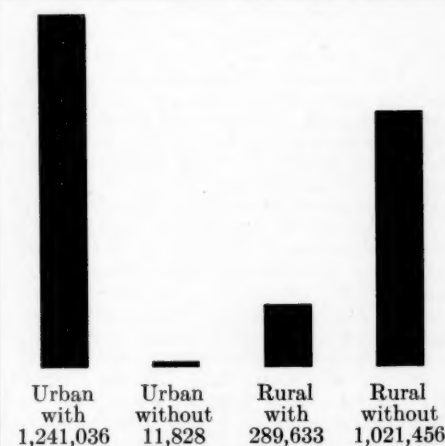

Total population without public libraries—1,033,391 (40 per cent)

Rural without 1,021,563

Urban without 11,828

The line between rural and urban has been drawn at 2500, following the U. S. census.

Urban and Rural People With and Without Public Library Service

OBJECTIVE Equalizing Library Opportunity

II. Standards of Library Service (Based on American Library Association Standards, adopted October, 1933)

A. The Staff

1. Training for professional work
2. Salaries comparable to other professions
3. Sufficient in size to permit efficient operation

B. Book Collection

1.  $1\frac{1}{2}$  books per capita in a city of 200,000 and over
- 2 books per capita in a city of 10,000—200,000
- 3 books per capita in a city of less than 10,000

C. Measuring the Use of the Library

|                             | Per cent of Pop'n registered as borrowers | Number of Books lent per capita |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Cities of 100,000 and over  | 30                                        | 7                               |
| Cities of 10,000 to 100,000 | 40                                        | 9                               |
| Cities of less than 10,000  | 50                                        | 10                              |

D. Income

Minimum annual income $1.00 per capita

III. Methods of Attaining Standards in State-wide Library Service

Because of the predominant rural population, state-wide library service can only be attained through the County or Regional Library

A. What can be done under existing laws

County libraries may be established in Minnesota

- 1.—by the board of county commissioners in counties having no tax-supported library
- 2.—by contract between the boards of county commissioners and the library boards of existing libraries in the same or adjoining counties. (Regional libraries may be developed under this law).
- 3.—by contracts between local libraries and rural or village schools.

B. Further legislation needed for future development.

1. Certification of Librarians
2. Provision for state aid to equalize library opportunity

IV. Recommended Program for Immediate Action

- A. Study and work for rural library extension so far as possible under present laws
- B. Campaign of education to secure popular understanding and support for extension projects and legislative objectives
- C. Appointment of a legislative committee to work toward presentation of the legislative program to the next legislature

To secure adequate school library service and to make books accessible to all schools according to the standards as set up by the State Board of Education. See Manual for Ungraded Elementary Schools and Manual for Graded Elementary and Secondary Schools.

a. School contracts with public libraries which adjust the administration of the co-ordinated public and school libraries so as to achieve the objectives of both.

b. County or regional libraries.

To encourage schools to take advantage of school library aid to the fullest extent.

To make provision for the training of school librarians which will bring about a high standard of service.

To promote the proper functioning of the certification law for school librarians.

To train pupils in the habitual use of libraries, school and public, by expanding the library courses now a part of the curriculum in elementary schools, high schools and colleges.

"To provide opportunity for the practice of citizenship and the acquiring of desirable attitudes and habits in regard to books and libraries"—Ingles.

To interpret the school and its library to the public librarian and the public library board.

To interpret the school and public library to the school executive and the teacher in service.

To inform communities through various groups of the place which the library should occupy in the school.

To include the function of the library in professional educational courses for the school executive and the teacher.

University and College Libraries

The University, college and research libraries of the state are faced with a greatly increased demand for books in widening fields of service. The large numbers of students with federal and state scholarships make heavy demands on the service, books and supplies of these libraries.

The modern educational spirit and procedures make it imperative that adequate library service be given to all the students and faculties in institutions of higher education. In many cases, perhaps most, the students benefiting from relief funds contribute nothing to the maintenance or increase of the college and university library. Funds for such purposes must be provided if the educational objectives are to be reached.

The college and university libraries must contribute to the specific needs of their own curricula. They can very seldom, except in large cities, expect much aid for these specific needs from the public library beyond the class requirements of undergraduate groups.

On the other hand they should be enabled to supplement the work of the public library of their community or region for the research worker or advanced student not registered in the college or university. This help should extend to qualified students in adult education courses or projects and to the private investigator.

Changing methods of instruction and changing emphasis on different subjects will require constant modification of the library collections and service. The conserving function for occasional use and for investigation for future students, scholars and investigators cannot properly be abrogated though it should not dominate reasonable service.

The University and college libraries and other research libraries of the state should be closely coordinated (by voluntary cooperation and planning and with due consideration for their specific needs and resources) with each other and with the public libraries and other state library services to avoid unnecessary duplication and to increase (through photostat and other duplicating services as well as inter-library loans) the availability of needed books, manuscript and other materials for research to qualified research workers in all parts of the country.

Such service should be recognized as obligating the library asking the service as well as the library from which it is requested. In the case of extension students the local public library should recognize the claims of such students as members of the community while the extension faculties should cooperate as far as practicable in suggesting or requiring in their courses books of community value as well as of educational expediency.

FRANK K. WALTER.

b. Objectives:

Library service based on sound library practice, (1) adapted to the individual needs of the patient for his recovery, (2) extended to the entire staff and personnel, (3) and co-operating with all other departments of the hospital.

To bring this about the following points are recommended:

1. Administration of the library in the hospital entirely by the hospital on a professional basis or by the public library as one of its departments so adapted as to meet with the approval of the hospital authorities, or in the case of those hospitals administered by the State Board of Control, by their supervisor of libraries.

2. Trained and experienced librarians with pleasing, colorful personalities suited to the different types of hospital, children's, mental, et cetera.

3. Reasonable budgets.

4. Adequate housing in the hospital.

5. A definite place in the organization of the public library and the hospital for the hospital library department.

6. Recognition of extra time and staff needed for individual case work and other special studies.

7. Special lectures and later, courses in the Library School of the University of Minnesota, emphasizing book selection and social point of view.

8. Special lectures on hospital libraries for nurses, occupational therapists, and medical social workers.

9. Working together of library and hospital groups including discussions at meetings, papers, et cetera.

II. Institutions administered by the State Board of Control.

b. Objectives:

Library service based on sound standard methods so adapted to the individual needs of the state wards in the institutions as to further efforts for their return to society; or in case that is impracticable, to assist in ameliorating their restricted existence.

To bring this about, the following points are recommended:

1. Trained, experienced librarians with specialized background training.

2. Reasonable budgets.

3. Adequate housing.

4. The use of the library as a laboratory to test attitudes of reader, also reading ability and the use of remedial reading methods, to encourage experiments in adapting vocabularies to the slow reader and in general to work closely with the psychiatrist.

5. Special lectures, and later, courses in the Library School of the University of Minnesota, emphasizing book selection and social point of view.

6. Adequate reference library of books, periodicals, pamphlets and documents on subjects pertaining to the State institutions to be maintained as part of the headquarters' office.

PERRIE JONES.

TECHNICAL BOOKS, 1934-1935

Selected and annotated by Helen Rugg
Hill Reference Library
St. Paul

Allen J. R. and Walker, J. H. Heating and air conditioning. N. Y., McGraw-Hill, 1935, $4.00.

New edition of this treatise, which has been completely revised to cover recent advances particularly in the field of air conditioning.

Anderson, J. W. Diesel engines. N. Y., McGraw-Hill, 1935, $5.00.

For the operating man. It tells concisely what Diesels are, what they do, and how to select one for a particular job.

Balddt, L. I. Clothing for women; selection and construction. Chicago, Lippincott, 1935, $3.00.

Emphasizes color and design in dress and gives practical hints on clothing construction.

Corbin, T. J. Hand block printing on fabrics. Lond., Pitman, 1934, $1.75.

Written to provide art teachers, art students, and amateur craftsmen with a knowledge of the process, the tools and other equipment used in hand block printing on fabrics.

Eddington, Sir Arthur. New pathways in science. N. Y., Macmillan, 1935, $3.00.

The London Times reviewer says "It is imaginative boldness, this sense of new possibilities, which, combined with such subtle and delicate analysis, makes the great charm of the book."

Jeans, Sir James. Through space and time. N. Y., Macmillan, 1934, $3.00.

With expertness of knowledge and simplicity of exposition, the author presents the scientific facts concerning the universe. Many plates of remarkable beauty illustrate the text. Young people will enjoy this book.

Ladner, A. W. and Stoner, C. R. Short wave wireless communication. N. Y., Wiley, 1934, $3.50.

The only satisfactory work on the subject. For amateur and expert.

Lipetz, A. I. Diesel engine potentialities and possibilities in rail transportation. Lafayette, Ind., Purdue university, 1935. (Research bulletin no. 49, Engineering experiment station.) Gratis.

Good exposition of the Diesel electric locomotive.

McLachlan, N. W. Elements of loud speaker practice. Lond., Oxford, 1935, $1.75.

An elementary treatise on the design, operation and use of the loud speaker.

Manning, W. O. Airsense for those engaged in or interested in flying. Lond., Pitman, 1934, $1.00.

An elementary, non-mathematical work telling how the airplane flies and how the engine works.

Miller, S. C. and Fink, D. G. Neon signs; manufacture—installation—maintenance. N. Y., McGraw-Hill, 1935. $3.00.

Presents the essential facts involved in the design, manufacture, installation and maintenance of neon signs.

Ott, O. W. Essential features of comfort air conditioning. Los Angeles, J. B. Reeves, 1934, $3.50.

Written from the physiological point of view. Shows that air conditioning is the simultaneous control of temperature, humidity, movement and purity of the surrounding air to produce the most healthful environment in which to live.

Packer, C. E. Automobile service shop management. Chicago, American technical society, 1934. $1.50.

A manual for service managers, shop owners, and mechanics engaged in the management and operation of automobile service stations.

Riesbeck, E. M. Air conditioning, fundamental principles, practical installations and ozone facts. Chicago, Goodheart-Willcox, 1934, $3.50.

In the first part the advantages and mechanics of air-conditioning devices are given, not only for the engineer but for owners of homes, offices, theatres and other buildings. The second part deals with the use of ozone in the ventilation, air-conditioning and purification of water.

Rosbloom, J. Diesel hand book. Jersey City, Diesel engineering institute, 1935, $5.00.

Instructions for the care and operation of all types of Diesels in non-technical language.

Shepherd, H. F. Diesel engine design. N. Y., Wiley, 1935, $3.50.

Detailed directions for the designing of Diesel engine parts. Extended theoretical discussions and advanced mathematics have been avoided.

Walker, R. C. and Lance, T. M. C. Photoelectric cell application, 2d ed. Lond., Pitman, 1935, $2.50.

A practical book describing the uses of photoelectric cells in television, talking pictures, electric alarms, counting devices, etc.

RECENT BOOKS OF MERIT

Non-Fiction

Seldes, George. Freedom of the press. Bobbs, 1935, 2.75. 070

As an indictment of the domination of the press by numerous interests, this book has value in making readers aware of the unreliability of their news sources. Will interest many people.

Goldman, Raymond Leslie. The good fight. Coward, 1935. 1.50 170

A man who has been paralyzed and learned to walk, who became deaf and learned to use an earphone, who has learned the self-denial of a diabetic—this man tells his 11-year old paralyzed nephew that with determination he can attain a reasonably happy and satisfactory life. Will, on occasion, be of genuine assistance.

Buell, Raymond Leslie, ed. Democratic governments in Europe. Nelson, 1935, 2.50. 321.8

How the machinery of democracy has attempted to adapt itself to growing technological demands is presented in a consideration of the forms of government in England, France and Switzerland. This is a companion volume to New Governments in Europe and is to be followed by one on democracy in the United States.

International Industrial Relations Institute. On economic planning, ed. by Mary Van Kleeck and Mary L. Fledderus. Covici, 1935, 3.00. 330.1

"The first serious attempt to make a comprehensive study of social, economic planning" lead to a conference of educators, economists, engineers, public officials—whose widely varied opinions and experience are here presented in a symposium.

Perret, Eleanor. Man's work and world: a history of industry. Heath, 1935, 2.12. 330.9

An interpretation for industrial students of the development in social and economic life, showing the tremendous changes since the Middle Ages with more than half of the discussion given to modern conditions and their underlying causes. There are many good illustrations and suggestions for constructive projects and models.

Stevenson, Russell Alger and Vaile, Roland S. Balancing the economic controls: a review of the economic studies of the Employment Stabilization Research Institute. University of Minnesota Press, 1935, 1.50. 330.9

Accepting the price system as the basic economic control, this brief, readable summary covers a general discussion of economic planning, economic activities in Minnesota, the problems of balance between government control and a free-working price system, a program of regional planning with suggestions for immediate steps to bring greater stability. Part II is valuable for its discussion of Minnesota conditions—employment fluctuations, populations trends, occupational shifts, mortality of business firms, banking, advantageous location of industries, management practices, etc. Important to all Minnesota libraries.

Anderson, William. Local government and finance in Minnesota. University of Minnesota Press, 1935, 3.00. 353.9

All Minnesota librarians will buy this consideration of the problems of local government and finance in this state. It deals with the development of local units, their present status, their revenue and expenditures, their functions in education, health, roads, etc., and closes with a picture of the future of local government.

Seabrook, William Beuhler. Asylum. Harcourt, 1935, 2.00. 360

In this picture of a large and well-staffed mental hospital there is much of value for the families of patients and for the general reader. As they read of the intelligent aid now given the mentally ill.

Then, John N. Christmas: a collection of Christmaslore. Bruce, 1935, 1.50. 394

Information about this book is now too late for 1935. Librarians will find it a useable collection of traditions, folk-lore, customs, poems, carols and proverbs. The section dealing with customs in many lands is most helpful. Includes a list of suitable Christmas pictures.

Pierce, Beatrice. It's more fun when you know the rules; etiquette problems for girls. Farrar, 1935, 1.75. 395

Librarians looking for simple material for girls on their current behavior problems will use this book often.

Holtby, Winifred. Women and a changing civilization. Longmans, 1935, 1.75. 396

The economic slump and the position of women in present-day Germany, Italy and Russia, which has re-opened the question of women's right to earn, leads Miss Holtby to question the value of the feminist movement. As a history of the changing status of women, this will attract a good many readers.

Boyd, Thomas Alvin. Research; the pathfinder of science and industry. Appleton-Century, 1935, 2.50. 607

Unexplored scientific fields are far greater than the explored. With the widespread experimentation in science, education, agriculture, manufacturing and business, this information of ways, methods, training, qualifications, remuneration, penalties may be useful to many young people.

Diehl, Harold S. Healthful living. McGraw, 1935, 2.50. 613

The Dean of the Medical Sciences at the University of Minnesota contributes in simple terms up-to-date knowledge on the preservation of health and the prevention of disease. Should be attractive to the general reader.

Burnham, Helen and others. The boy and his daily living. Lippincott, 1935, 1.80. 640

Since boys must give their share in the co-operative family life of today, this book considers the social, economic, psychological and spiritual aspects of the home. It is the result of the combined efforts of teachers and their boy pupils and discusses the questions they have found to be most pressing, as food, clothing, housing, money. There is little material elsewhere on the part of the boy in the home.

Bell, Enid. Tin-craft as a hobby. Harper, 1935, 2.00. 660

Simple, detailed instructions on a craft which is becoming popular.

Rutt, Mrs. Anna Hong. Home furnishing. Wiley, 1935, 4.00. 747

Intended for class work, for homemakers and for interior decorators, this treats of traditional and contemporary styles with equal completeness. The discussion of the modern use of traditional styles is useful, as is that dealing with garden design, floors, textiles, lighting, pictures, flowers, accessories.

Robinson, Edwin Arlington. King Jasper, a poem. Macmillan, 1935, 2.00. 811

Completed before the famous poet's recent death, this narrative poem reveals his ideas of "this puzzling world."

Sanford, Mrs. Anne Putnam, ed. New plays for Christmas. Dodd, 1935, 2.00 812.08

Plays from many different countries are presented, suited to the abilities of grade children, with simple and inexpensive production requirements. There is a similar collection of Thanksgiving plays, by the same publisher and at the same price.

Gordon, Margery and King, Marie B. Verse of our day: an anthology of modern American and British poetry with studies in poetry; rev. ed. Appleton-Century, 1935, 1.32 821.08

As a reflection of class-room tested, expressed tastes and interests of adolescents, this anthology has been made, including the new poetry of skyscrapers, machines and dynamos.

Lin, Yu-t'ang. My country and my people. Reynal, 1935, 3.00. 915.1

Uniformly praised as an excellent picture of his country, this young Chinese, who writes in English, tells of the racial, psychological and mental traits of his people and of their social, political, literary and artistic life. Library patrons with any interest in the Orient will wish to read this.

Raswan, Carl Reinhard. Black tents of Arabia (my life among the Bedouins). Little, 1935, 4.00. 915.3

In his quest for the true Arab horse, the author has lived for twenty-two years as a Bedouin, migrating, hunting, raiding, starving, feasting with the wandering herdsmen and raiders. Beautiful photographs reinforce the impressions of the text. Will be appreciated by many.

Nesbitt, Ludovico Mariano. Hell-hole of creation; the exploration of the Abyssinian Danakil. Knopf, 1935, 3.75. 916.3

Every reviewer gives unqualified praise to this book as an excellent example of a book of travel. It has current value in its picture of a little-visited section of Abyssinia, with its incredibly high temperatures. Not written by a "professional writer on a holiday".

King, Mrs. Rosa Eleanor. Tempest over Mexico; a personal chronicle. Little, 1935, 3.00. 917.2

An Englishwoman who has lived in Mexico since 1905 here gives first-hand information of the revolution in that country from 1910-1920. Recommended for its "freshness, vividness and tolerance."

Overbeck, Alicia O'Reardon. Living high; at home in the far Andes. Appleton-Century, 1935, 3.00. 918.4

The author's Irish humor and zest is called on often to relieve the difficulties of the wife of a traveling geologist. Her descriptions of their children and their family adventures while in South America are lively and readable and provide information, as well, for many readers.

Byrd, Richard Evelyn. Discovery. Putnam, 1935, 3.75. 919.9

Probably all libraries will buy this account of Byrd's second Antarctic Expedition.

Hylander, Clarence John. American scientists. Macmillan, 1935, 2.00. 920

Biographical material is given for scientists from Franklin and Audubon to Millikan, Osborn, Michelson, Remsen, Beebe and R. C. Andrews. Useful for reference.

Smith, Chard Powers. Annals of the poets—their origins, backgrounds, private lives, habits of composition, characters and personal peculiarities. Scribner, 1935, 3.00. 920

Librarians will often find this useful for reference, for club and study purposes since it gives a great deal of intimate detail which adds color and interest to reports and papers.

Linn, James Weber. Jane Addams: a biography. Appleton-Century, 1935, 3.50. 921

This is the authorized biography, mentioned in the previous number of Library Notes and News, by Miss Addams' nephew. It will doubtless become a standard book in library collections.

Deland, Margaret. If this be I (as I suppose it be). Appleton-Century, 1935, 2.00. 921

The efforts to identify her mature self with her little-girl picture has resulted in this novelist's charming evocation of past days. For unhurried readers.

du Maurier, Daphne. Gerald; a portrait. Doubleday, 1935, 3.00. 921

A clear-eyed granddaughter and daughter has written a delightful picture of George du Maurier, the author of Trilby and Peter Ibbetson, and of the English actor, Gerald du Maurier. This should be enjoyed by many not familiar with the people and times with which it deals.

Duranty, Walter. I write as I please. Simon, 1935, 3.00. 921

"Part history, part journalism, part autobiography"—the Moscow correspondent of the New York Times does an able job of interpreting the Russian experiment and reporting the Western front during the World War. Those who have read Vincent Sheean and Marguerite Harrison will read this with great interest.

Gilman, Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson. The living of Charlotte Perkins Gilman, an autobiography. Appleton-Century, 1935, 3.00. 921

A "champion of women's emancipation" reveals the personal elements which lead to her life-long interest in social and economic questions. A contribution to the picture of our recent past.

Harrison, Marguerite. There's always tomorrow. Farrar, 1935, 3.50. 921

The value of this book lies in its vivid picture of Germany at the time of the Armistice, of Poland, Austria, Russia (where she was imprisoned for ten months), the Orient and her part in the filming of "Grass". The author is intelligent, not profound, whose after-sight she often seems to mistake for foresight. Most readable and may lead many readers to a history of the period.

Harvey, Rowland Hill. Samuel Gompers: champion of the toiling masses. Stanford University Press, 1935, 3.75. 921

"A fair and just account of the life and work" of the man who was President of the American Federation of Labor from 1886-1924. It is based on his correspondence, speeches and the facts relative to his work with the labor movement.

Ishimoto, Sdihzue Hirota, baroness. Facing two ways; the story of my life. Farrar, 1935, 3.50. 921

Urged by her liberal husband to abandon the traditional and feudal life of a wealthy Japanese woman, the author pictures the dramatic changes confronting the modern woman in her country. She is a leader in the birth control movement in Japan.

Masters, Edgar Lee. Vachel Lindsay; a poet in America. Scribner, 1935, 3.00. 921

Written by a friend, at the request of Lindsay's wife—a friend who knew, of his own experience, Lindsay's background and environment—there will be numerous readers for this book.

Nicolson, Harold George. Dwight Morrow. Harcourt, 1935, 3.75. 921

"Few who have an interest in national and international affairs can fail to be stimulated by this record of an eminent career". Considered one of the outstanding examples of 1935 biography.

Peattie, Donald Culross. Singing in the wilderness; a salute to John James Audubon. Putnam, 1935, 2.50. 921

Some readers may not like this imaginative presentation, but where there is an appreciable interest in Audubon, this book will be enjoyed. For young people, also. Its colored plates are noteworthy.

Sandoz, Mari. Old Jules. Little, 1935, 3.00. 921

Old Jules, the author's father, was a Swiss immigrant in pioneer Nebraska. He was "brutal, vindictive, conceited" but his daughter, who suffered by his callousness, realizes the commendable traits of his character. Of limited interest.

Jackson, John Hampden. The post-war world: a short political history, 1918-1934. Little, 1935, 2.50. 940.5

This book is intended for the "ordinary newspaper-reading man (it will bore specialists and anger partisans)". In it are considered the countries of Europe, Africa, the Far East and America.

Grimberg, Carl Gustaf. A history of Sweden, tr. by C. W. Foss. Augustana Book Concern, 1935, 2.50. 948.5

Economic, political, social and educational progress in Sweden since 1818, including the subjects of literature, art, science, invention, international relations, and a chapter on the Swedes outside of Sweden—is presented in selections from Grimberg, adapted for American students and readers.

Allen, Frederick Lewis. The lords of creation. Harper, 1935, 3.00. 973.9

"A careful economist, a first-rate historian and a biographer of skill" presents our social and financial history of the last thirty years. Last year's Robber Barons, by Josephson, treated the forerunners of the financial "lords" here discussed.

Sullivan, Mark. Our times, v. 6. Scribner, 1935, 3.75. 973.9

The 1920's are considered in this last volume which small libraries may not need except to complete his series. For the same period Allen's Only Yesterday will be preferred by many.

Fiction

Aldrich, Bess Streeter. Spring came on forever. Appleton-Century, 1935, 2.00.

The author's popularity will be continued in this story of Illinois and Nebraska, from 1866 to the present.

Beals, Mrs. Helen Raymond Abbott. These elder rebels. Stokes, 1935, 2.00.

A reverse of the situation in "Years are so long." Here the parents revolt against the easy-going irresponsibility of their grown children who could leave home, but do not. Lightly told and amusing.

Becker, May Lamberton, ed. Golden tales of the far West. Dodd, 1935, 2.50.

Biographical notes accompany these stories by such authors as Joaquin Miller, Bret Harte, Frederic Remington, Emerson Hough and Mary Austin.

Bell, John, pseud. Mocassin flower. Book Masters, 1935, 2.50.

Librarians may wish to buy this because it is a Minnesota story. Not well done.

Chase, Mary Ellen. Silas Crockett. Macmillan, 1935, 2.50.

Another New England family chronicle, from the days of clipper ships and schooners to the present. Some young people as well as many adults appreciate Miss Chase's tempered prose.

Gibbs, Sir Philip Hamilton. Blood relations. Doubleday, 1935, 2.50.

The story of an English girl who marries a German, lives in Germany during the war while her husband is interned in England, and sees their son come under the influence of the Hitler regime. Thus Gibbs conveys his plea for tolerance and world peace.

Hart, Alan. Doctor Mallory. Norton, 1935, 2.50.

Not a skillful novel, but a sincere presentation of the problems of the young doctor who prefers the challenge of service in an isolated community to a city practice.

Lewis, Sinclair. It can't happen here. Doubleday, 1935, 2.50.

Fired by a "bitter sarcasm" Sinclair Lewis writes not so much a novel as a "weapon of the intellect" in his forecast of the United States in 1936-39. Will doubtless create much discussion.

Scoggins, Charles Elbert. The house of Dawn. Appleton-Century, 1935, 2.00.

A quickly-read adventure story for men—of railroad building and the discovery of Inca ruins in the Peruvian Andes.

Thornton-Cook, Elsie. They lived: a Bronte novel. Scribner, 1935, 2.50.

This pleasant story of the Bronte sisters and the literary world of their day may lead its readers to biography and a discovery or re-enjoyment of their novels. Opinions differ about its interpretation.

Tippett, Thomas. Horse Shoe Bottoms. Harper, 1935, 2.50.

English miners come to Illinois in the 1870's where they developed the Horse Shoe Bottom mine, with its attendant problems of wage cuts and labor unions. Again a novel of social and economic thought.

Undset, Sigrid. The longest years. Knopf, 1935, 2.50.

More autobiography than novel, Sigrid Undset's readers will appreciate this unhurried presentation of a Norwegian childhood.

White, Mrs. Nelia Gardner. The fields of Gomorrah. Stokes, 1935, 2.00.

An honest and sincere effort to picture the difficulties which face the wife of a minister whose churches are in small towns. May stir some readers to disagreement.

White, Stewart Edward and DeVigne, Harry. Pole star. Doubleday, 1935, 2.50.

A good many men readers will find interest in the development and growth of the Russian American Company and Russia's control in Alaska under Alexander Baranov.

Ethiopian Situation

These pamphlets will be found useful in many libraries.

Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Italy and Ethiopia (International Conciliation pam., no. 314). Author, 700 Jackson Place, N. W., Washington, D. C., 1935, .25.

Foreign Policy Association. War tomorrow, will we keep out?, ed. by R. A. Goslin (Headline books, no. 1). Author, 8 W. 40 St., N. Y., 1935, .25 (paper), .35 (boards).

Royal Institute of International Affairs. Abyssinia and Italy. Author, Information Dept., 114 5th Ave., N. Y., 1935, .75.

World Peace Foundation. Rivalries in Ethiopia, by E. P. MacCallum (World Affairs pam., no. 12). Author, 8 W. 40 St., N. Y., 1935, .50.

Inexpensive Editions of Some Good Titles

Candee. Tapestry book. Tudor, 1.69.

Culver. Book of old ships. Garden City, 1.98.

The five color plates may be purchased separately at 1.00.

Encyclopedia Britannica. Painting. Garden City, 1.98.

This is a collection of articles and illustrations from the Britannica.

Hedin. My life as an explorer. Garden City, 1.59.

Kinsella. Music on the air. Viking, 1.49.

Kootz. Modern American painters. Original Editions, 1.49.

Moore. Old glass, European and American. Tudor, 1.69.

Nutting. States beautiful series. Garden City, 1.79 each.

Rayner. Famous cathedrals and their stories. Grosset, 1.00.

Rimsky-Korsakov. My musical life. Tudor, 1.29.

Taylor. Complete garden. Garden City, 1.79.

READING MATERIALS ON COOPERATION

Two leaders in the Cooperative Movement, one from far-away Japan, Toyohiko Kagawa, the other from Connecticut, Dr. J. P. Warbasse, are including Minnesota in speaking tours during the current winter. Mr. Kagawa has long been one of the greatest advocates of the cooperative idea—because in the cooperative principles as applied he sees an opportunity to make human brotherhood and the love of mankind more than a theory. His influence on the economic and spiritual life of Japan cannot be overestimated. Church groups are eagerly awaiting his arrival in Minnesota.

Dr. Warbasse has properly been referred to as the father of the cooperative movement in America. Once a successful surgeon, he left his practice to spend his entire life in studying and telling others about cooperation at home and abroad. In order to anticipate requests for reading materials on the subject of cooperation, there are listed here a few outstanding reference works and magazine articles which are available on this subject:

Pamphlets

Chase, Stuart. The story of Toad Lane. (Cooperative League of the United States, 167 West 12th St., New York City. 5c.

Childs, Marquis. Sweden: where capitalism is controlled. John Day Co., 1934. 25c.

Cowling, Ellis. A short introduction to consumer cooperation. Central States Cooperative League, 3954 W. 27th St., Chicago. 1935. 15c.

Dietrich, John H. The cooperative movement. The Northern States Cooperative League, 458 Sexton Bldg., Minneapolis. 1933. 5c.

Howe, Frederic C. The most complete agricultural recovery in history: the example of Denmark. U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 1934.

Hughes, Hugh J. Cooperation here and abroad. Northern States Cooperative League, 1933.

Books

Warbasse, J. P. Cooperative democracy. 1936. Cooperative Publishing Association, Superior, Wisconsin.

Hall, F., and Watkins, W. P. Cooperation. 1934. (A text book on the British Cooperative Movement.) Cooperative Publishing Association, Superior, Wisc.

Magazine Articles

Fowler, Bertram B. Meet the co-ops. Survey-Graphic, January 1936.

Chase, Stuart. The story of Toad Lane. Scholastic, Feb. 9, '35.

Fowler, Bertram B. The new deal ahead. Forum, August, 1935.

Fowler, Bertram B. The new crusade (Kagawa). Forum, January 1936.

Fowler, Bertram B. The democratic way to prosperity. Forum, Oct. '35.

Brumbaugh, T. T. Kagawa on cooperation. Christian Century. February 27, 1935.

TRAINED PERSONNEL FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

An attempt is being made to focus attention upon the problem of merit system in civil service. A national civil service week was sponsored in January and in Minnesota various groups are at the present time undertaking a statewide educational program to inform Minnesota citizens of the need of the merit system in public office.

Attention is called to the following pamphlet which has been approved by educators and public officials throughout the country. It is a brief and direct study of present public personnel policies and presents some of the opportunities for improvement. Those teachers and other school people who read the article on "Education and Civil Service" in the state department bulletin, MINNESOTA SCHOOLS, for Sept.-Oct., 1935, will find this booklet an excellent digest of the entire public service personnel problem as it exists today:

Trained Personnel for Public Service by Katherine A. Frederic. A publication of the National League of Women Voters. Washington, D. C. Price 25 cents.

LIBRARY AIDS

American Library Association

Inexpensive Books for Boys and Girls, compiled by the Book Evaluation Committee of the Section for Library Work with Children, lists about 700 titles of proven worth in editions costing $1.00 or less. A chart compares inexpensive series. This list will soon be distributed. It is priced at fifty cents. 10 copies or more are forty cents each. All public libraries can use this to excellent advantage.

Gifts for Children's Book-Shelves has been revised for the first time since 1931. About 100 books, with descriptive notes and buying information about each, are grouped according to the age of the children for whom they are suited. This is both a buying list for parents and a reading list for children. 100 copies may be obtained for $1.50.

Recent Children's Books, selected by Miss Van Cleve, is her choice of 30 outstanding titles of 1935, with emphasis on the later fall books. Publishers and prices are given. 100 copies are $1.00.

Essays on Modern Authors indexes 195 collections which include essays on some 80 modern authors who are studied in high schools. Small libraries will not have enough of the indexed collections to make the purchase of this tool worthwhile. However, where there is a great deal of demand for such information, this index will indicate useful titles to buy. Its price is 35 cents.

H. W. Wilson Company

Abridged Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature is planned for all small libraries. It indexes 23 of the more generally used periodicals which were chosen by vote of many librarians. It is sold on a service basis, with a minimum rate of $2.25. When librarians subscribe they must send a list of the periodicals their library regularly receives. This extremely useful index is now available to almost all libraries in Minnesota. The first number was September, 1935.

Index to Plays: Supplement, compiled by Ina Firkins, is now available. Its price is $4.00 and for larger libraries it is also sold on the service basis.

Intended for supplementary reading and reference the following lists, at 35 cents each, may be useful in a number of libraries: Background Readings for American History, What Shall We Read Next? Books About Spain, Readings for French, Latin, German students. These belong in the Reading for Background series.

More First Facts, by J. N. Kane, is a supplementary and companion volume to Famous First Facts by the same author. These two books record over 4,000 events, discoveries and inventions that have taken place in the United States. The "Firsts" are arranged alphabetically by subject, with many subjects subdivided to indicate the progressive development of the invention or event. There are also chronological and geographical indexes. The price to libraries is $2.25. Famous First Facts is $3.00 to libraries. Both volumes in one order are $4.75.

Miscellaneous

Material to be Obtained Free or at Small Cost, prepared by the Alumni Association of the Division of Library Instruction at the University of Minnesota, may be secured for 50 cents from Miss Golde Rapaport, 1230 Knox Ave. N., Minneapolis, Minn.

The Yearbook of the League of Minnesota Poets, edited by Louise Leighton, may be obtained from the Argus Publishing Company, 2335 Central Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn. There are forty-six poets represented in this small booklet, priced at 25 cents. Minnesota libraries should have copies of this yearbook.

NEWS FROM PUBLIC LIBRARIES

New Libraries

New libraries are being sponsored by the Cook Study Club, to be housed in the school and the Mutual Benefit Club of Le Center, which has been granted the use of the village hall one evening a week.

The Hinckley Public Library Association has collected nearly 1000 books through a house to house canvas, and will open the library in the school early in the year.

Through the efforts of the American Legion Auxiliary, a public library has been established in Tracy. The council has appointed a library board and given the use of the council room.

A public meeting was held at Wells in December to discuss the establishment of a public library. Miss Baldwin and Miss Wood of the Library Division presented methods of organization.

Finance and Administration

Kenyon—The public library which has been supported by public subscription has been taken over by the village and a library board has been appointed.

Increased appropriations to cover delinquent taxes are noted as follows: Ortonville, $1500; Red Wing 2 mill tax; Thief River Falls, $4000; Worthington, $2500, the additional $500 to provide for operation of the new children's room.

Sandstone—Proceeds of a tag day were $106.88. Library service is provided through WPA workers.

Buildings and Improvements

The remodeled Mayo homestead in Le Sueur was opened as a library in November. The basement of the library and museum at New Ulm was completed this fall.

An outside entrance to the public library in the municipal building at North Mankato is to be constructed.

Worthington — A children's department opened in the basement Oct. 21, in charge of Mrs. Clarice Swanson, a Hamline graduate with 6 weeks Summer course at the University. Relief workers put in shelving and made two large bulletin boards used as screens to partition off the room.

The Carnegie Centenary, November 25, with its theme "one hundred years of library progress" was celebrated by many of the Carnegie libraries of Minnesota. In Duluth, open house was held at the main library and the two Carnegie branches, West Duluth and Lincoln, with exhibits showing the development of the library system.

County Libraries

Itasca County—Branches at Warba and Deer River are open daily with WPA help.

Olmsted County—The county commissioners made an appropriation of $400, to the Rochester library, which is again giving service to the county.

The plan of rural school library service by contract has been presented at school officers meetings throughout the state by Harriet A. Wood, state supervisor of school libraries, and is meeting with favor. The movement began early in the fall when the Sauk Center public library made contracts with 14 rural schools in adjoining districts in Stearns and Todd Counties. Three more schools in Stearns County have signed contracts with the St. Cloud public library.

In Martin County, 75 rural schools have agreed to cooperate in providing a rural school library for the county, each district paying 50c per pupil, plus an additional dollar for the purchase of supplementary sets of readers. The Fairmont library board will provide housing and equipment and care for circulating the books.

A similar plan is being started in Becker County, each school turning over $10 to the Detroit Lakes public library. 35 rural schools have already decided to join.

In Clay County when a number of rural schools applied for service from the Moorhead public library, the librarian and county superintendent presented the matter to the county commissioners who agreed to match the school money, $10 per school, up to a maximum of $300.

In St. Louis County, a committee of the Range Library Trustees association has been appointed to study the plan of extension of library service to rural areas and small towns. The committee consists of Carl R. Johnson, Virginia, Mrs. Timothy Shea, Eveleth and Dr. Crawford Grays, Chisholm. The library committee of the St. Louis County Club is also at work upon this project.

Library service by parcel post has been inaugurated by the Austin public library. The cost is 25c registration fee and postage on books sent. The library has an enrollment of 100 patrons from surrounding towns and villages.

Personal

Katharine Patten resigned her position as Athenaeum Librarian January 1st, 1936, after 44 years of service in the Minneapolis Public Library. Miss Helen Baird has been elected to fill her position, but will retain her present position on the Library staff as secretary of the Bibliographical Committee.

Lucy E. Keller, for the past ten years librarian at Grand Marais died of pneumonia on New Year's day.

SCHOOL LIBRARIES DEPARTMENT

SCHOOL LIBRARY LIST SUPPLEMENT, JANUARY 1936

Compiled by
Harriet A. Wood

INTRODUCTION

Because of the limited budget for printing, this supplement to the School Library List is combined with Minnesota Library Notes and News. There are three divisions, each arranged by author: Primary (1-3); Intermediate (4-6); Junior and Senior High School (7-12).

The order number, class number and Library of Congress card number follow each entry. The order number must be used in applying for state aid. The class number is used to keep books of a kind together on the shelves.

The Library of Congress number is used in ordering printed cards which the Congressional library supplies at slight cost to many libraries. A pamphlet giving directions for purchase may be secured by writing to Washington. It is highly desirable to take advantage of the card service of the Library of Congress at least for all non-fiction. Printed cards are a valuable part of the library's educational equipment. The making of the analytical dictionary catalog is facilitated by their use and pupils learn bibliographic form.

Each school district is entitled to Library aid for the purchase of library books, not to exceed one-half the amount of money expended or fifty cents per pupil in average daily attendance for five hundred pupils, not to exceed one-fourth the amount expended or twenty-five cents per additional pupil in average daily attendance.

A visit to the Library Division of the State Department of Education for the examination of the Sample Collection is an aid to book selection. Books will be lent as part of the Package Library Service. The cost is the return postage.

Books for children and other books likely to have hard wear should be purchased in strong reinforced bindings. A list of firms doing such work will be furnished upon request.

Subscription books are sets expensive to prepare for which subscriptions are taken in advance of publication. The term is also applied to all extensive works. These sets are sold by agents. Some are merely old books republished often with changed titles. Some are desirable for college libraries but too advanced for school libraries. Even among reference sets suitable for school libraries, a choice must be made as books vary in emphasis and format. Subscription books bulletin published by the American library association for $1 per year is needed in every high school because it evaluates expensive books that are sold by agents.

Pamphlet material and inexpensive elementary and high school books in paper covers are valuable but often quickly out of print. They should be secured promptly and placed in a vertical file or put into covers and shelved with the books.

The Vertical file service of the H. W. Wilson co., New York City is the best means of getting in touch with this material.

The list compiled by Edith A. Lathrop, Office of Education, Washington, D. C. entitled One dollar or less, inexpensive books for school libraries (Circular No. 147) may be obtained free. See also Library Aids, p. 139.

Vocational pamphlets may be secured from the Commonwealth book co., 80 E. Jackson blvd., Chicago and from the Institute for research, 537 S. Dearborn st., Chicago. Aid on purchases up to $10 will be allowed on each of these sets. Pictures on Shakespeare and his times (100 prints $1.50) may be secured from Theatre Arts, 40 E. 49th st., New York City.

The Book selection committee cooperating in the preparation of this list consists of the following members: Primary and Intermediate Schools: Elsie Baker, St. Paul, Chairman; Alice Brown, Duluth; Elizabeth Singleton, White Bear; Mary Tawney, Minneapolis; Mrs. Star White, Mound. Junior High School: Jessie H. Parsons, Elk River, Chairman; Marion Gratz, St. Paul; Celia Frost, Minneapolis. Senior High School: Margaret R. Greer, Minneapolis, Chairman; Mae Arlander, Virginia; Ruth Ersted, University of Minnesota High School; Laurie Johnson, St. Paul; Gladys Leadholm, Stillwater.
